

UCAT ANZ Essentials

What do I need to know?

The University Clinical Aptitude Test for Australia and New Zealand (UCAT ANZ) is an admissions test, used by the UCAT ANZ Consortium universities to help select applicants for their medical, dental and clinical science degree programmes. The test is used alongside other selection criteria such as academic qualifications and interviews.

The UCAT ANZ is a computer-based test, delivered in Pearson test centres.

This guide is designed to take you through the essential steps in completing your UCAT ANZ journey.

Check your eligibility

Check your eligibility to sit the UCAT ANZ and confirm which universities and courses require the UCAT ANZ.

Note the key test cycle dates and deadlines.

Register and book

Create a Pearson account and book your test

You must book before the deadline and test within the testing window.

If applicable, apply for Access Arrangements and/or the Concession Scheme before booking your test.

Prepare for your test

Use the free official resources on the UCAT ANZ website including the Preparation Plan, Question Tutorials, Question Banks and timed Practice Tests.

Check you know what to expect on Test Day and familiarise yourself with the Test Rules.

Sit your test

Plan your journey to the test centre and allow plenty of time for arrival.

Take the correct photo ID with you.

Know what to do if you have any problems before or during testing.

Receive your results

UCAT ANZ results are available in your Pearson account within 24 hours of sitting the test.

Test statistics will be published on our website after testing ends.

Apply to university

Check the university websites to determine their application procedures and deadlines.

UCAT ANZ will deliver your results directly to the UCAT ANZ Consortium universities in early September.
